

Hello WNSS students & families,

As the end of the semester approaches, we wanted to provide you with information about our Final Culminating Activity (FCA) days.

- Teachers have created course summative assessments which are being worked on in classes by students in January during the final weeks of the semester.
- In addition, for most courses, there will also be a Final Culminating Activity (FCA) that must be completed in person on a designated FCA day. This could be an exam, performance, portfolio presentation, or other task.
- Teachers have shared the final culminating activity expectations with students well in advance.
- Teachers will also email students and families by January 12th to identify the expectations for each course during the FCA dates on January 21 - 27.
- For courses without a mandatory FCA task during those scheduled dates, some students will be expected to attend because they are at risk of not earning the credit. Teachers will communicate with students and guardians by Monday, January 19th, whether attendance is required.
- For courses without a formal FCA task students can attend in-person on the Final Culminating Activity Day for course improvement in consultation with their teacher.
- All final culminating activities will begin promptly at 8:05 a.m.
- The bus schedule remains the same, so please arrange for transportation home after your final culminating activity task is complete.
- Students who remain at school will be required to stay in the supervised library until 2:10 p.m. dismissal.
- There is no cafeteria service during this time.
